Press Release

SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria: New trade fair for security technology is coming to Klagenfurt

The SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria will make its debut on 14 and 15 October at Messe Klagenfurt. More than 40 exhibitors will be presenting innovative solutions for access control, fire safety, IT security, video surveillance and perimeter security. The new trade fair will be complemented by a high-calibre programme of talks featuring renowned experts from the business world, public authorities and the research sector. The latest information, the programme of talks and tickets are available at www.sicherheitsexpo.at.

Klagenfurt – With the SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria, Carinthia is gaining a trade fair dedicated to modern security technology. It brings together experts, companies and public bodies from Austria and the Alpe-Adria region in Klagenfurt. Issues such as the protection of critical infrastructure, cybercrime, burglary prevention and crisis preparedness are becoming increasingly important for companies and public bodies in Carinthia too. The SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria addresses these developments and provides a central platform for information and exchange.

The trade fair brings together the latest solutions and developments in the fields of access control, fire safety, IT security, perimeter protection and video surveillance. Exhibitors at SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria include leading companies from a wide range of sectors within the industry. The specialist partners for the new SicherheitsExpo are the VSÖ – the Association of Austrian Security Companies – and the KfV – the Austrian Road Safety Board. The VSÖ helps shape the content of the specialist forum at the trade fair and ensures that Austrian industry requirements are taken into account as effectively as possible. The KfV also contributes further topical issues and specialist insights to the programme.

Specialist presentations on current security issues

On both days of the exhibition, SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria will be hosting specialist presentations on current topics and developments within the sector. Speakers from the security industry, public authorities and the research sector will examine current challenges and highlight potential solutions for businesses, public institutions and critical infrastructure. Attendance at the presentation programme is included in the exhibition ticket. The trade fair will be opened on 14 October by Carinthian Provincial Councillor Dr Beate Prettner. To kick off the conference programme, General Mag. Andreas Holzer MA, Director of the Federal Criminal Police Office, will deliver a keynote speech on the topic “The New Vulnerability – Security in an Age of Permanent Crises”. This will be followed by a panel discussion on the topic “The Polycrisis as a Permanent State – Are Our Systems Still Manageable?”. High-profile speakers and experts are taking part in the programme at the SicherheitsExpo Alpe Adria. Topics include, for example, “AI in security technology”, legal regulations concerning the protection of critical infrastructure, the early detection of forest fires using drones, and the motives and methods behind burglary offences.

SicherheitsExpo – Series of events

The trade fair concept, which has been established and successfully run in Munich for 23 years, was expanded to Berlin in 2025. From 2026, the trade fair for the security technology sector will now offer trade visitors from Austria, Slovenia and north-eastern Italy an additional platform.
